The Myth of the Illegal Alien Migrant Worker

Analysis, Opinions, Site news

No Responses »

Illegal immigration is a huge problem in the United States. Crime, disease, terrorism, declining wages for Americans and the breakdown of social infrastructure like schools and hospitals are increasingly serious concerns. However, the media and the Congress are attempting to leverage one issue where many people have sympathy for the influx of illegal aliens: the [...]

WorldNetDaily follows the court martial case of Lt. Col. Terrence Lakin. Lakin was denied “disclosure of Barack Obama’s documentation proving his eligibility to be commander in chief.” WorldNetDaily reports on the decision by acting judge, Army Col. Denise R. Lind here. “Lind ruled that it was ‘not relevant’ for the military to be considering such [...]

Bill Gates: We can lower the world's population with vaccines

At a time when anthropogenic global warming (AGW) is becoming broadly recognized as a politically driven, pseudo-scientific power-grab, Microsoft billionaire Bill Gates recently “unvielded his vision” of global catastrophe unless net man-made carbon emissions are reduced to zero. The video of his peculiar, ill-timed, February TED2010 talk is here. Gates also delivered a very odd [...]

The globalists' insane Communist test lab of North Korea has threatened nuclear war this weekend if provoked by a joint U.S.-South Korea military exercise. The BBC reports: "The army and people of the DPRK will start a retaliatory sacred war of their own style based on nuclear deterrent any time necessary in order to counter [...]"

Jul 24 2010 Full frontal assault on Internet free speech has begun

Analysis, News

No Responses »

Over the last week, a multipronged attack on free speech has come to light. Leading the assault is Las Vegas-based copyright troll "Righthaven" led by Steve Gibson. On the fast track to becoming the most loathed person on the Internet, Gibson buys up copyrights to newspaper articles published in cyberspace and runs a Web crawler [...]

The astronomy photo of the day comes courtesy of NASA's Solar and Heliospheric (SOHO) orbiting solar observatory. An enormous, fiery, winged shape can be seen as if emerging from the sun's broiling surface to the upper right of the occlusion disk. For extra win, a trail of pixie dust follows it.

Jul 21 2010 Public school idiocy: Teen eats shared chicken nuggets, gets taken away in police handcuffs

News

It's difficult to express the sheer absurdity of this story, but it perhaps helps explain why our country is falling so swiftly. Are we truly this pathetically stupid and our schools and police this tyrannical and amoral? A 15-year old boy ate chicken nuggets given to him by a friend. As a result, the police [...]

Should we view the following astonishing statistics as separation of "church and state" in the United States, or rather "government without representation"? The current makeup of the United States Supreme Court includes 6 Catholics and 2 Jews. If Kagan's nomination goes through, there will be 6 Catholics and 3 Jews on the Supreme Court. The [...]

For many people, Apple Computer's co-founder, Steve Jobs, exists on a higher plane than the one mere mortals occupy. It's a peculiarity of our modern world that a gadget designer can find himself at the center of a personality cult. Certainly, Steve Jobs' uncompromising direction has played a huge role in Apple's success. However, out [...]

Netbook Internet Connection Sharing -- Despite Windows 7 Starter

Analysis, Computer news, Tutorials

A sure sign that a company is on its way out is when it starts needlessly defeaturing its products to create artificial market segments rather than innovating new features to add value. Windows 7 Starter is a good example of this sad phenomena. Microsoft originally planned to impose a three application limit to Windows 7 [...]
